

Introduction to Conservation Restriction Monitoring and Stewardship

Wednesday, February 29th 7 PM

South Hadley Town Hall

116 Main Street

South Hadley, MA 01075

Holding a conservation restriction comes with many benefits as well as specific responsibilities. Join The Trustees of Reservations and the Kestrel Land Trust to learn more about how to establish a successful monitoring program. You'll learn about annual monitoring visits, enforcement, recordkeeping, and landowner relationships. This introductory workshop will provide an introduction to stewardship concepts, practical lessons from the field, and include plenty of time for discussion of your questions and issues.

The team of presenters from The Trustees of Reservations are responsible for monitoring 350+ conservation restrictions. The Trustees was accredited by the Land Trust Alliance last year, and has established an extensive conservation restriction monitoring and enforcement program.

The workshop is free and open to all, but please register in advance by calling 413.628.4485 ext. 1 or emailing highlands@ttor.org.
